Verizon Wireless is holding its first ever nationwide, virtual career fair Thursday.

The company is looking to fill more than 1,000 jobs around the country, according to a press release, in sales, customer service and tech support.

To take part in the virtual career fair, candidates have to connect a LinkedIn account, or upload their resume here (<https://verizon.virtualcareerfairs.com>) .

Then, you can stay at home while you chat with recruiters live online.

A Verizon representative said students and graduates of Arizona State University, Chandler Gilbert Community College, Mesa Community College, Scottsdale Community College, Estrella Community College, South Mountain Community College, Gateway Community College, and Rio Salado College are welcome to take part.

The virtual career fair will be held on Thursday, July 23 from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

You can register online to participate here (<https://verizon.virtualcareerfairs.com>) .
