He was also a casting coordinator at Nigel Lythgoe Productions. And just before his solo career took off, he worked as a digital content creator at Funny or Die.

Garrett Watts' YouTube channel was started back in 2012, and he started the channel with a noble thought.

The bio on YouTube suggests that he is not in it for the money or fame, but for having "a great time with you." He also states that "My #1 favorite aspect of my channel is interacting with you! I want to know YOU, so talk to me."

On the YouTube channel, he has segments like Dollar Store Cosplay or Will It Combo, where he learns and documents all the items to put together a costume using cheap stuff or sees how deep frying some Girl Scout cookies will work out!
